Dear

STAT

Thank you for your note of February 23rd which you sent pursuant to Sir William Stephenson's suggestion. I am somewhat familiar with your thoughts about battlefield management, having found them interesting when I read your book. I also had a letter commending your thinking in this area from our mutual friend Ronald Lewin sometime before his untimely death.

What you have in mind would take quite a lot of doing, and to properly consider its potential value some preparation would be called for. I will get the views of some people here and think about the people who might participate in the meeting and carry on whatever evaluations might be decided upon. Meanwhile, you might, if you can, send me copies of the two documents you prepared in 1982 which are reflected on pages 17 and 18. Shortly after I get them I will write you again with respect to possible next steps.

Sincerely,

William J. Casey
